

Inference Communications

Inference Communications Pty Ltd is a specialist speech recognition technology and solutions company. Inference's unique competitive advantage is derived from its core technology which is the result of many years research into AI (artificial intelligence), and applied to the area of speaker independent speech recognition technology and services.

The Result

Speech Recognition Solutions that work

Speech Recognition Solutions designed, developed and delivered very quickly

Speech Recognition at an affordable price point

Pre-packaged, Configurable Solutions

Inference has exploited its technical advantage to generate a suite of configurable, pre-packaged, natural language speech recognition solutions. These solutions are available out of the box for implementation as premise based solutions; or in conjunction with our hosting partners, as fully hosted services, e.g. Store Locator, CallBack, Survey, Campaign Management and many, many more.

Technology

Inference also makes its technology available to the market in the form of speech recognition development environments. Those development tools are currently used by customers globally to develop their own sophisticated, natural language speech solutions. Those customers are not only able to develop sophisticated solutions without the need for specialist resources, but they also develop and maintain those solutions in significantly less time than has previously been possible using other techniques. For more information go to www.inferencecommunications.com